We're beyond excited to see you shine on stage—because honestly, you've been entertaining us since the day you were born! Break a leg out there (not literally, please!) and enjoy every moment.

More than anything, we hope your life is always filled with the same joy, laughter, and generosity you give to others. You're a superstar in our eyes—on stage and off.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

There are certain moments in life that make us pause, smile, and feel grateful for the people who bring light into our world. For our family, watching Sam take the stage as Walter in Elf is one of those moments. We are so proud to celebrate him, not just for his hard work and dedication to this production, but for the remarkable young person he is becoming.

At eleven years old, Sam already shines in ways that make us laugh, think, and admire him daily. He is sweet and emotionally aware, a quality that makes him a natural actor who can bring honesty and heart to every role. He notices the small details around him, whether it's the way someone is feeling, a subtle change in tone, or the chance to slip in a perfectly timed joke. That curiosity and sensitivity give him a depth well beyond his years.

Sam is also endlessly curious about the world. He asks questions not just to hear answers, but to truly understand people, ideas, and how things work. This curiosity often leads to lively conversations, unexpected discoveries, and sometimes hilarious punchlines. If there's a chance to make someone laugh, Sam will find it. Comedy runs through him like a superpower. He's not afraid to be silly, try out voices, or turn a regular moment into a performance. His willingness to take risks for the sake of humor makes him a true entertainer, both on stage and off.

Music is another piece of Sam's heart. He finds joy in rhythm and melody, and it's not unusual to hear him humming, singing, or letting music inspire him during the day. That love of sound, harmony, and expression blends seamlessly with his acting, giving him a presence that is both strong and tender. On stage, he's able to channel all of these passions into a performance that feels alive, real, and full of energy.

But beyond the stage, Sam is still the kid who will dance around the kitchen just to make us laugh, who will crack jokes at the dinner table until we're all in tears, and who cares deeply about the people around him. His talent is extraordinary, but it's his kindness, humor, and love of life that make him unforgettable.

So tonight, as the lights go down and the curtain rises, we celebrate Sam.
Break a leg, buddy — you make us proud every single day.

With love,
Your family and biggest fans
Dad, Mom, Jack, Ellie, and Ruby (Katie Rudawitz)
